NORWAY AND VICINITY

Walter Leavitt and family have moved from Lynn, Mass., to Norridgewock, where Mr. Leavitt has charge of the cutting room in the shoe factory.

Paper for table clothes. It's in rolls and can be had at this office. Paper is 40 inches wide. You can have as many feet or yards of it as is wanted.

Stephen B. Cummings is having the spring water piped into his house, the Haskell house, on Main street. Joe Dearborn has been doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Dinsmore and family moved this week from their home off Pleasant street to the new house Mr. Dinsmore has been building on Crockett Ridge.

Cecil Brown returned, Saturday night, from a hunting trip in the vicinity of Grafton and brought with him a small deer, which his friends say is decidedly good eating.

Bond men and sellers of industrial stock were here Wednesday. Ansel Turner, J. M. DeShon, C. B. Mitchell and E. B. Hammitt. Like flight birds they come in droves.

Our stores have put on their Thanksgiving dress. Everything is ready for the Thanksgiving shoppers. The grocery stores and markets are the first place of attractions.

Seventy odd car load of apples, some 14,700 bushels, have been shipped from the Norway depot up to Saturday, Nov. 18th. There are more to be shipped. Apples bring from $1.75 to $2.25 per barrel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lord returned from Brockton, Mass., last of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Lord went to Brockton seven weeks ago on a visit and both were taken ill while there. Mr. Lord has recently left the hospital and is convalescent.

Has Chas. E. Winter talked to you yet? He has been visiting telephone users. He tells the beauty of single and two-party lines. He has landed 10 two-party specials and there is more to follow. This means that only one can listen when you are telephoning. Surely its a quicker and better service but it will never become popular on rural lines.

The Rebekah Fair.

The fair for which the Rebekahs have been putting in a lot of hard work, the past few months, was held at I. O. O. F. hall, Wednesday afternoon and evening, and proved a great success.

The hall was prettily decorated in the lodge colors of pink and green. Streamers of pink and green crepe paper were centered at the chandelier in the center of the hall and run to the four chandeliers at each corner of the hall and to the four officers' chairs, making a very pretty overhead work.

The tables were all tastily decorated in pink, green and white. The fancy table was in charge of Eva M. Kimball, Nellie Andrews, Minnie Bangs, Jennie Baker, Elsie Favor, Abbie Curtis, Clara Drake and Alice Smith. Here were found a variety of fancy articles such as would make up a good fancy table.

The variety table was in charge of Gertrude Libby, Maud DeCoster, Bertha Evirs, Lizzie Edwards, Lena French and Etta Harriman. This table, as one of the ladies in charge said, was rightly named for when any article came in the ladies of the other tables didn't know exactly what to do with it was placed here, hence a variety. A large cake on this table attracted considerable attention. It was sold in a guessing contest and the one to guess the nearest weight secured the cake, which became the property of Percy Fogg, who guessed 6 pounds and 4 ounces and the cake weighed 6 pounds and 2 ounces. The new edition of the famous Rebekah cook book is for sale on this table and is in charge of Mrs. Charles Libby of Paris street.

The fish pond was another center of attraction where all sized packages were fished out for a small sum. This was in charge of Nora Bradbury, Grace Cushman, Etta Chick, Lulu Gilbert, Thirza Lovejoy and Ella Harriman.

The candy table did a good business as usual. This was in charge of Gertrude Hosmer, Winnie Hall, Inez Freeman, Charlotte Lovejoy and Nina Pike. A large piece of candy suspended by ribbons from the overhead decorations of this table won a lot of attention. The object was to guess the weight and he who came the nearest won. Don Smith was the lucky one. He guessed 7 lbs. 1 oz, and it weighed 7 lbs.

The apron table was presided over by Gertrude Barker, Fannie Burnell, Mary Cole, Lizzie Crooker, Alice Danforth and Mary Gammon. A wide variety of styles, sizes and shapes of aprons were in evidence and soon found ready customers.

Marion Libby, Mildred Pottle, Bessie Chase, Edith Palmer, Myrtle Haskell and Rosamond Dunham were in charge of the fancy bag table. Here were sold fancy bags of all kinds and descriptions.

In the regalia room were placed the ice cream and cake tables, which were in charge of Georgia Swain, Myrtle Morgan, Katherine Mann, Mary Pride and Florence Kimball.

During the evening a short entertainment was given and included selections by Arthur Morgan, cornet, Lizzie Brooks, piano, Marion Haskell, violin; Mrs. Frank Kimball, vocal, Mrs. Effie Akers, accompanist; Bessie Chase, vocal, Marion Haskell, violin, Lillian Powers, accompanist.

The fair continued throughout Thursday afternoon, and at 6:45 one of the famous Rebekah suppers (with many of the good things made from the Rebekah cook book) will be served at I. O. O. F. hall. Following the supper the Rebekah ball will be held in the Norway Opera House. The music will be furnished by Stearns' orchestra. Charles S. Akers will be floor manager with John Judkins, Louis Brooks, Frank Mann and Will Holden as aids. A pretty dance order of white, green and gold with tassels will be in order with fifteen dances.

Mrs. Wm. C. Leavitt.

Mrs. Fannie Elizabeth Leavitt died at her home on Orchard street, Thursday, Nov. 16, at 7.20 p. m. at the age of 52 years, 8 months and 5 days.

She was born in Norway, March 11, 1859, the only daughter of Jackson and Angelia (Mixer) Clark. She was educated in Norway schools. She married Wm. C. Leavitt Nov. 28, 1880 in Norway, and with the exception of the three years when first married when they lived in Bridgton, Norway has been her home. Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt,—Mrs. Elizabeth June (Leavitt) Hutchins, wife of Ernest W. Hutchins of Norway; George C. Leavitt, principal of the high school at Standish; William Holden Leavitt and Christine Leavitt at home and students in the Norway schools. Her aged father, Jackson Clark and step-mother also survive her.

Her religious associations were Universalist, and she was a Rebekah until her health forbid.

Eleven years ago she began to receive treatment for the disease that she has had all these years. There were times that improvement was noticeable and it was hoped she might regain her health, but she gradually lost the use of her limbs and for years she has been unable to walk and had to be moved from her couch to her wheel or other chairs or placed into the carriage for an outing. During the first years of her illness she was able to use her hands in sewing and other ways and this was a great comfort to her, but this in a measure was slowly denied her. She became as helpless as a child in everything but intellect.

She was always cheerful and interested in anything that pertained to her family or the outside world. She felt that everything was for the best and made the best of her life confined to such an enclosed limit. She enjoyed nature through the lovely sunsets from her window and every other possible way and she expressed beautiful ideas through her oil paintings. Through all her illness her husband watched over and tended her with a thoughtfulness only equalled by her patience and contentment, and her children gave their best to mother.

The funeral was from the home at 2 p. m, Sunday, Rev. M. C. Ward, her pastor, spoke to the assembled friends. She was surrounded by flowers. Flowers like all beautiful things she had always enjoyed. The bearers were S. B. Cummings, C. H. Sargent, A. J. Stearns and E. F. Bicknell. Interment was at Pine Grove. The snow covered the ground and it looked bleak and cold, but the newly made grave covered with evergreen seemed a soft and restful bed of boughs as the casket was gently lowered from view.

Clara A. Daggett.

Clara A. Daggett died at the Sisters' Hospital in Lewiston, Monday, Nov. 20th of cancer. Miss Daggett's girlhood home was in Dexter but her relatives there have all passed before to the Great Beyond. A few years ago Miss Daggett went there and cared for her sister through her last sickness. One brother may or may not be living. For years diligent inquiring has failed to locate him.

She is survived by a niece, Mrs. Minnie Corliss of Manchester, N. H., a nephew, Fred E. Daggett of Topham and a nephew at Bangor.

Miss Daggett came to Norway about thirty years ago and found employment in J. L. Horne & Son's pancake shop on Marston street. In a short time she went to work in the shoe factory of B. F. Spinney & Co., and with the exception of a few months in a shoe factory at Springvale she has worked there since till failing health about three weeks ago confined her to the house. While she had not been in her usual good health for several months it was not considered anything of a serious nature till very recently.

Mrs. T. H. Sawin at whose house she had roomed many years went with her to Lewiston, Thursday, and remained in the city to be with her. The operation was performed Saturday and from the first her condition was found to be such that there was little hope of her long surviving.

Miss Daggett was born at Parkman, Me., June 14, 1856.

She was a member of the Congregational church at Norway and a constant attendant at the church services, and as she said just before going to Lewiston, she regretted to miss one of the excellent sermons.

She was a true friend, often sacrificing her own comfort that she might add to the enjoyment of a friend. Nothing that she could do was too good for them. She enjoyed the company of young people and many were the delightful evenings her young friends spent in her room with Miss Daggett as hostess.

It was her wish to be buried in Norway, where she has spent so many years of her life. The funeral was from the Congregational church, Wednesday, at 10.30 a. m, Rev. R. J. Bruce her pastor paying tribute to her worth. The bearers were Judge W. F. Jones, Dennis Pike, H. F. Andrews and A. L. F. Pike Interment in Pine Grove Cemetery. The floral tributes from her shopmates and friends and members of her Sunday school class showed their esteem for her.

Ethel Holt of Portland has been visiting her cousin, Lester Ashton and family.

Schools opened Monday after a recess of two weeks. The Library was opened on Tuesday and every thing is once more going along as usual. Those who have been suffering with diphtheria are convalescent and nearly all the quarantines are removed.

Col. Z. M. Mansur of Newport, Vt. was in town Friday. He reports his daughter, Mrs. Carl Storrs' health very much improved in the past few months. The bloat has been reduced, the rheumatism stopped and other complications checked. The Colonel was here attending Probate Court.

Judge Wm. F. Jones, Henry J. Bangs, Harry F. Greenleaf and Frank Abbott, who have been spending a few days on a hunting trip at East Stoneham, returned home Monday. The party stopped at camp Keewayden and report an excellent outing. They brought home with them a female bear that weighed 160 pounds and a small buck deer.

Jim Wright Got an 8-Pointer.

Several of the party made the second trip to Silver's Camp, North Rumford. They got there at the proper time. The snow covered the ground and game could be tracked.

Ike Waite was there and his father-in-law, Turner Silver. Postmaster Charles S. Akers left the mail bags to carry a gun and tramp through the snow for three days without seeing a deer but not so his son Vivian, the artist, he came broadside on to a fine one which withstood a shower of bullets unscathed.

Ed Richardson, "Young Put," was with 'em. He washed tin plates and roamed the forests but brought into camp nothing.

It's said Roy Pratt took along with him his barber kit instead of a rifle. This is probably a lie. He was there and no doubt did his full share of the hunting.

Jim Wright is a veteran. He was schooled in Gilead and up Wild River and has such a winning way with him as to attract wild deer hence he got an 8-pointer.

Mt. Hope Rebekah Cook Books.

Ladies of Mt. Hope Rebekah Lodge have published a new edition of their famous Cook Book with additions. There was a constant demand for this book after the edition was exhausted and the Rebekah ladies are now prepared to furnish these books. The recipes are models of economy for practical use. They are also the favorites of the ladies furnishing them, tried and true. They are on sale at the Fair now being held in Odd Fellows' Hall or may be had of Mrs. Gertrude Libby. The price is 25cents each.

Mrs. Levi Shedd of West Paris was in town, Tuesday, calling on friends.

Mrs. H. O. Stimson returned to her work at Conway, N. H., Monday.

Mrs. Simeon Butler of Camden is visiting Margaret and Jennie Baker.

Clara Connor, who has been seriously ill for the past week, is convalescent.

Mrs. Etta Connor of Augusta has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jones.

Mrs. Cora Perkins has been confined to the house for several days by illness.

Mrs. Milton H. Merriam has had a telephone put in her residence on Main St.

Paper for table cloths for sale at this office. It comes in rolls 40 inches wide.

Harold Goldthwaite, who has been at Groveton, N. H., for a number of weeks, has returned.

Roscoe Bradbury, who has been ill with pneumonia, has had a relapse and is very ill.

Ernest Hutchins was called to Exeter, N. H., Monday, by the sudden death of his grandmother.

Mrs. Vine Jellerson of Old Orchard has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Smith.

Clarence L. Ridlon, the genial West Paris postmaster made our office a visit last Tuesday.

Read ad on pages 8 and 6. They are interesting. Let your wants be known to our readers.

Mrs. J. F. Swain was called to Bath last week by the sickness of her sister, Mrs. S. H. Ring.

Clayton Smith and family of Denmark are moving into Reginald Dinsmore's house off Pleasant St.

A. C. Lord and wife returned home last Saturday. Mr. Lord is getting along very well and is at work again.

Mrs. George Wheeler, who was operated on a few weeks ago for appendicitis, is convalescent and the nurse left Saturday.

Rehearsals for "Along the Missouri" are being held. This play is to given a little later at the Opera House by the stage hands.

The gallery tickets for the K. of P. ball, which will be held in the Norway Opera House, Nov. 30th, will go on sale at Stone's drug store, Monday evening, Nov. 27th, at 7 o'clock.

The annual Christmas supper and entertainment of the members of the Sunday School of the Congregational Church will be held at the Congregational Church this year as in years past.

There will be a union Thanksgiving service at the Congregational church, Wednesday evening at 7:30. Special music. Rev. R. J. Bruce and Rev. M. C. Ward will speak. Everybody is invited.

We notice W. A. Bickneli, deputy sheriff going down street with a load of black fox skins. There might have been 30 of them. These skins were colored in New York and warranted not to croak or fade. Some woman in town is to have a Christmas present of a black fox-skin muff and fixings. Wonder who it can be?

The delegates from Norwry Lodge, I. O. G. T., who attended the Androscoggin District Lodge at South Lewiston, Saturday were Harlan Kimball, Emma Stone, Mildred Kelly, Mrs. Eliza Merrill and Grace Stevens. The day was very pleasantly passed. The regular routine of business with the conferring of degrees, etc., made the work of the day. A fine dinner was served by Advance Lodge at their hall to all the visiting lodges.

The banquet and farewell party to Dennis P. Donovan the first of the week was a brilliant success from the word go. Mr. Donovan is a man of few words, but every word he utters has a meaning. Mr. Donovan intends to spend the winter in Boston, Springfield and New York City. Between 17 and 20 young men from Norway and South Paris showed their class to making lobsters and clams and all that goes with them look sick. Lee Welch of Lewiston was among the guests. He is looking fine. The entertainment as outlined last week in the Camp Comus Notes was carried out. The whole party sang a parting song to Mr. Donovan, written by Walter Christian and Pete Emery. Frank Lanen gave the farewell address. Al and Mr. Donovan gave a speech thanking the boys and hoping to be among them next summer.

Advertisers and correspondents and all others interested,—the ADVERTISER goes to press, Wednesday, Nov. 29. Send in all copy one day earlier than usual.

The barn on what is known as the old "Town Farm," now owned by Dr. Alfred King of Portland, was discovered on fire by Oscar W. Parsons, Thursday morning about eight o'clock. Help was summoned but it was too late to save anything. There was a large amount of crops and other material in the barn: it is estimated about 35 tons of hay, a lot of grain, a number of tons of fertilizer, a gasoline engine, and a threshing machine belonging to A. W. Walker & Son, besides other articles, and it was practically a total loss. The cause of the fire is not known and as there were no tracks in the snow it cannot apparently be laid to tramps. The house on the farm burned a number of years ago.

The boarding house and store house of the Paris Manufacturing Company's lumber camps were burned, Saturday night. The boarding house was occupied by three families and about 15 men, employed as teamsters hauling lumber from the saw mill to the Grand Trunk station at Crystal. Fire was discovered by John Coburn, who was awakened by smoke. Mr. Coburn and family had hardly time to escape from the burning building and lost all of their household goods. The other two families saved a portion of their furniture. Some of the goods in the store, which was in one corner of the boarding house, were saved. Flames spread to the storehouse nearby, but the men, by hard work succeeded in removing most of the contents, including 75 barrels of flour and a large quantity of grain. About 40 bushels of potatoes and several barrels of pork and numerous other supplies were destroyed. The stable and horses were saved. A temporary building for the winter will be erected at once.

The committees have been appointed for the sale and entertainment of the Paris grange to be held in December and are as follows:

Candy—Abbie Abbott, Lottie Gates, Jennie Brett, Alta Rand.

Vegetables and Fruit—Almon Cairns, Albion Abbott, Arthur Talbot, Geo. Boutelle, Albert Ryerson.

Refreshments—Annie Kimball, Della Maxim, Clara Ryerson, Flora Maxim.

The play "The Country Kid" which was presented Tuesday and Wednesday for the benefit of Mt. Pleasant Rebekah Lodge was attended by a large audience both evenings. The scenes and situations of the play were decidedly laughable and caused no small amount of merriment. All the parts were especially well taken and each one adapted to his part and presented it in a fine manner. Special comment is made on the character, "Bill Taylor" taken by Dr. Wendell Rounds who brought down the house many times. The Japanese Fantastic Drill was given by the following young ladies: Arline Crocker, Belle Ames, Marie Newton, Dorothy Wight, Nettie Newell, Verna Howe, Alta Rand, Blanche Lane, Muriel Bowker, Ida Stiles, Evelyn Wight and Eva Andrews. All were dressed in Japanese costume, carrying a fan, and the drill was a very interesting feature among the specialties. The music was furnished by Lumley Castle Band.

Mrs. Lura Martin of Milton, is the guest of her brother, Harry Swett.

W. H. Doton has recently put a new "Round Oak" coal hearter into his barber shop.

Mrs. Fred Rogers of Newburg has been the guest of Florence Gordon several days.

Mrs. Alcina E. Grover is visiting Mrs. Bessie Sloan and family and calling on old-time neighbors and friends.

Mrs. Viola Dunham, who is at the Sisters' Hospital in Lewiston, was operated on for appendicitis, Saturday.

Mrs. Elliott Rich has a fine lot of pullets, White Plymouth Rocks, says she has rather more than she can winter profitably.

NORTH BUCKFIELD.

The summer home of Mrs. Martha Records of Littleton, Mass., at this place was burned to the ground, Tuesday night. Mrs. Clarence Warren discovered smoke coming from around the chimney and gave the alarm. The loss on the property is placed at $800, partially covered by insurance. Mrs. Martha Records and her sister, Mrs. John Pressey, had left for Massachusetts only that morning and it is supposed that they left a fire in the stove.

A Coroboration

Of Interest to Norway Readers.

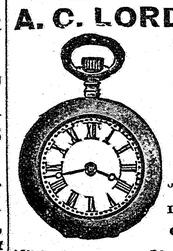

For months Norway citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Norway residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Norway reader.

William O. Needham, Main St., Norway, Me., says: "Several years ago I contracted a cold which settled on my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be the remedy I required, strengthening my kidneys and making me feel better in every way. I advise anyone afflicted with kidney complaint to procure Doan's Kidney Pills at Stone's Drug Store and give them a trial." 46-47

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

The Two Glasses.

There sat two glasses, filled to the brim,
On a rich man's table, rim to rim.
One was ruddy and red as blood,
And one was clear as the crystal flood.
Said the Glass of Wine to his paler brother:
"Let us tell tales of the past to each other."

"I can tell of a banquet and revel and mirth
Where I was king, for I ruled in might;
And the proudest and grandest souls on earth
Fell under my touch, as though struck with blight.
From the heads of Kings I have torn the crown;
From the heights of Fame I have hauled men down,

"I have blasted many an honored name;
I have taken virtue and given shame,
I have tempted the youth with a sip, a taste,
Far greater than king am I,
Or any army under the sky.

"I have made the arm of the driver fail,
And sent the train from its iron rail.
I have made good ships go down at sea,
And the shrieks of the lost were sweet to me.
Fame, strength, wealth, genius before me fall
And my might and power are over all.

"Ho! ho! pale brother," laughed the wine,
"Can you boast of deeds as great as mine?"
Said the Glass of Water: "I cannot boast
Of a king dethroned or a murdered host;
But I can tell of hearts that were sad
By my crystal drops made light and glad.

"Of thirsts I have quenched, and brows I have laved;
Of hands I have cooled and souls I have saved.
I have leaped through the valleys and dashed down the mountains,
Slept through the sunshine and dripped from the fountain.

I have burst my cloud-fetters and dropped from the sky,
And everywhere gladdened the landscape and eye.

"I have eased the hot forehead of fever and pain;
I have made the parched meadows grow fertile with grain;
I can tell of the powerful wheel of the mill,
That ground out the flour and turned at my will;

I can tell of manhood, debased by you,
That I have uplifted and crowned anew.

"I cheer, I help, I strengthen and aid,
I gladden the hearts of man and maid;
I set the chained wing captive free,
And all are better for knowing me."

These are the tales they told each other
The glass of wine and its paler brother,
As they sat together, filled to the brim,
On a rich man's table, rim to rim.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

The Call of the Cook.

(Puck.)

O, when I married Linda I asked her: "Can you cook?"
She just looked wise and answered: "I know my little book,"
And since that time she's fed me on dishes a la France,
With Sweden, Spain and India thrown in when there's a chance.
I've breakfasted on waffles with jam and mayonnaise,
For lunch I've seen spaghetti cooked in fifty different ways;
And when I'm called to dinner quite often there will be
Hungarian goulash on the board, Scotch scones and Russian tea.
My appetite is hearty, and I dote on simple food,
But if I should confess it my wife would call me "crude."
So all my meats are stuffed and braised, croquetted and saute-d,
My vegetables au guatin-ed, my desserts are glace-d.
I'm steeped in spice and curry, I'm filled with crumbs and paste
(I'm pretty sure that nothing in our kitchen goes to waste),
And when, with all my hungry soul, I yearn for Irish stew,
I hear the carol of the cook: "Just taste this Swiss ragout!"
I sigh for beefsteak simple, but my sighing is in vain,
I'd give a whole week's salary to see an egg cooked plain.
I love a boiled potato, but always 'pon my soul,
They're minced with peppers, nuts or cheese, or served en casserole!
How I would relish pork and beans! and oh! what a relief
'Twould be to find upon my plate a hunk of good corned beef.
But hark! A voice calls. "Dinner, John! Come see what I have made;
Here's shrimp souffle with creole sauce and mushroom marinade!"

In the Fire-Hole.

The captain's fine in his coat of blue,
The mate is big and handsome too,
But of the hundreds in the crew
It's the coolies who make her go!

Eight hours off and four hours on,
Shoveling coal till the voyage is done,
Stirring the flame till the race is won
Sweat the coolies who make her go.

Not even a name on the ship's payroll,
Only a number to take its toll,
Just small mites in the human whole—
Naked coolies who make her go!

No hint above of what's below,
Keeping alive the fiery glow,
Driving the engines fast or slow—
Yellow coolies who make her go!

Tumble 'em up from the hell in the hold
See how they shiver out in the cold,
Eyes like a cat's and faces of gold,
These, the coolies who make her go!

Dangerous Use of Drugs.

The use of drugs for thinning oneself is a dangerous experiment. While it may not injure one woman in ten—so far as she can see—the other nine suffer. The risk is not worth while, unsightly as flesh is.

Since there are no signs on styles coming her way, what is the overfleshy woman to do?

Advice is prolific and generally not acceptable. The average fat woman much prefers to keep her figure by a pill before and after meals rather than by discriminating in those meals.

One girl consulted a specialist on the subject of thinning. After listening to her woes he looked at her quizzically, saying, "I can thin you if you will take as your meal motto, "Taste makes waist." There is one sure way to cut down flesh—cut down food. Which does not mean cutting it out."

Dieting is not starving; indeed, dieting is less necessary than reducing quantities. One very large woman has reduced herself fifty pounds by eating everything she likes, but eating much less of it. She helps herself less bountifully, and heroically refuses a second serving of the favorite dainty.

It is impossible to lay down hard and fast rules for diet, but it is safe to say we all eat too much, especially if assimilation and indigestion is good and food turns to flesh.

Now if these pullets would only begin shelling out the eggs, the man with half a dozen might go into close confinement and amuse himself these long winter evenings by clipping coupons.

Active at 91.

Dr. Elizabeth G. Pyrum-Perry Is a Remarkable Woman.

The Manchester, N. H., Union says: Dr. Elizabeth G. Pyrum-Perry of Fryeburg, is visiting in Manchester with her nephew, Gen. Henry A. Farrington, and is now enjoying herself as heartily as could a woman of half her age.

The doctor was born in Fryeburg, March 30, 1820, and she says humorously that evidently it was in celebration of her birth that so big a slice was taken from Massachusetts and made into a state that same year. Although she will be 92 years of age if she lives until next March, of which there is every prospect, she is in excellent health, and her mind is as clear and vigorous as in her earlier years.

Her hair is as black as in her youth, and luxuriantly abundant. She uses eye glasses only for the finest print, and goes about the streets with a firm step, making calls upon old acquaintances at her pleasure. The doctor writes in a clear bold band, and devotes a portion of her time to literary work. Indeed, it is probable that her mental activity has had much to do with the preservation of her bodily health. Her voice is clear and strong, and on at least three occasions during the last year she has given readings and recitals at the First Baptist church in Portland, in which city she passes a portion of her winters, while making her summer home in Fryeburg.

During her stay at her nephews, five generations are represented, although not in a direct line of descent, consisting of Dr. Pyrum-Perry, her nephew, Gen. Farrington, his daughter, Mrs. Lane, her daughter, Mrs. Cole, and the latter's son Arthur. Mrs. Pyrum-Perry has survived three husbands, of whom the late Norman W. Perry, who died some four years ago, was formerly well known in Manchester.

The doctor resided in New York City fifty-five years and saw many notable changes. When she first went there to live only one railroad came to the metropolis, Croton water had not been introduced, and she saw the beginnings of Central park. She received her diploma as a physician in 1880 when she was already 60 years of age, and practiced with success in New York until 1892, when she felt that she would be benefitted by the scenery and atmosphere of her old home in New England.

The doctor still retains in full a faculty which she has possessed in unusual degree throughout life—the faculty of extempore versification. One day, not very long ago, a young physician of Portland confided to her that he was discouraged, and she told him to cheer up. He made some discouraged reflection upon the idea of being cheerful, whereupon she responded with the following extempore lines:

Cheer is a priceless boon from Heaven;
To every willing soul 'tis given.
Cheer will lighten the labors of life;
Cheer will cool the heat of strife.
Time's withering hand 'twill stay,
And keep the lines of age away.
A cheerful soul will never borrow
Trouble which may come tomorrow.
A smile may stay a falling tear;
A cheerful word brings sunshine near,
Sorrowing soul that sits forlorn,
Feeding on fancies which cheer would scorn.

At the time of the call by the Union's representative, the doctor had no copy of these lines by her, and at his request she wrote them out in a bold, clear hand from memory.

Dr. Pyrum-Perry, well past 91, in good health, still engaged in writing verses and short stories, making the most of life and heartily enjoying it, is indignant at the theory of old age attributed to Professor Osler, asserting that he has done no end of harm and that he is altogether wrong anyway. She certainly has demonstrated the right to have her own opionion.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH.

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well to-day because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe its the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by The Noyes Drug Store. 44-47

Do Your Shopping Early.

Do your Christmas shopping early. All the retail stores, acting in are through the Retail Trade Board, the movement which reaches from coast to coast. Every possible means of reaching the people will be utilized, and to that end the Retail Trade Board has issued a circular, which reads:

"The interests of the public, the employer and the employee concur in this movement.

"1—Stocks will be more complete and fresher, giving better selection.

"2—Early shopping means prompt deliveries. Don't wait.

"3—You will get what you want now. It may be gone later.

"4—The salespeople will have a happier Christmas.

"5—Delivery people will have a happier Christmas.

"6—It is your gift to thousands of workers."

The new flag adopted by the Chinese revolutionists is red with a white star in the center on a blue ground. Well, red, white and blue are excellent colors in combination.

A Fair Offer.

Your Money Back if You're not Satisfied.

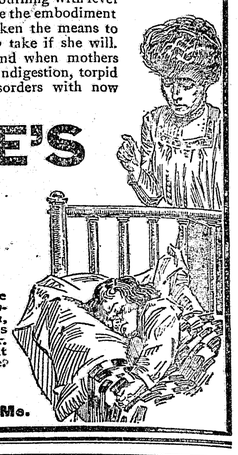

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way, whatever, if you accept our offer. That's a mighty broad statement, but we mean every word of it. Could anything be more fair to you?

A most scientific, common sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. Their active principle is a recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless, and tasteless; very pronounced, yet gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping, or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associate or debendent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember, you can get them in Norway only at our store. 12 tablets 10 cents; 36 tablets 25 cents; 80 tablets 50 cents. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. F. P. Stone, 143 Main street Norway, Maine. 47

That Pine Beetle.

Statistics are coming in to tell the highbrows what changes have been done the Southern forests by that pine bettle but the Floridian who passes through his own State will have more eloquent testimony that will appeal more strongly to him. He will see acres of fine trees standing dead, waiting for the forest fires to bury them—he will see acres upon acres denuded of pines in former years now offering only the comparatively worthless black jack and scrub pines. The government experts have labored over the problem of preservation in vain—the experiment stations in several States have figured out the life history of the little destroyer and taken excellent photographs of him in all stages of growth only to report that "effective meats for its extermination on the scale desired have yet to be discovered," or words to that effect.

Now let us reason together. Who is responsible for the ravages of this bettle? Shall we rest content with the conclusion that Providence moves in a mysterious way its wonders to perform? Nobody doubts it, but man's reason was given him for use and the connection between cause and effect need not be ignored. What kept that beetle down in the ages past and set pounds to his destructive industry, limited its numbers and saved the forests?

The enemies of the beetle prescribed by nature were the woodpeckers and the sapsuckers and the whole tribe which multiplied and increased with the abundance of food provided them and so kept tab on the enemy of the pine tree. In those days the tap, tap, tap of the red-headed family made music in the forests and the pines responded with murmurs of gratitude to the efforts of their protectors. Nobody thought of killing the woodpeckers—they were not good to eat and their eggs were deposited where they were safe from enemies—only when a too eager fledgling dropped to the ground or careless parents failed to ascend high enough for the little cavity did the snakes and coons and the skunks get one for breakfast or supper.

Now comes a change. The boy with a shotgun went out for victims and the red crown was a conspicuous mark. The little 22 rifle demanded victims and one seemed to be in every hand. The woman wanted feathers and some members of the family wore bright colors. First the great ivory bill was sent to happier hunting grounds despite his shyness and his love of sylvan solitudes—his wife's eggs commanded the big price of $2 each and then $5—at last $50 for an egg were paid and watchers skulked through the swamps listening for the drum with which Mr. Ivory Bill celebrated his courting. Now the ivory bill is no more and his less conspicuous brethren, being less shy also, are rapidly following him to death. Once we had tribes of little friends who searched the pines for beetles—now man has deprived the pine of its protectors and the pine is going.

We should not denounce the beetles but our own folly that posterity will consider a crime. Because we have exterminated the woodpeckers the beetle marches out to execute judgment. That's all.—[Florida Times Union.

A Bald-Headed Woman.

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses in Love and Marriage.

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disfigurement?

A womans goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet right here in Norway, there are thousands of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soap or preparations which contain ingredients postively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp abd hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will postively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles; that it will grow hair even on bald heads unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a throughly hard, impartial, and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. F. P. Stone, 143 Main street Norway, Maine. 47

Cold Splash Every Morning.

The habit once formed, the dip and splash in a tub of cold water every morning gives a stimulus to the beginning of the day that makes life well worth living. Its lack, on the contrary, leaves one feeling like a moluse, but as it is not a difficult luxury to procure, and as the milder cold sponge bath in some measures takes its place should a large enouth tub be out of reach, that dull feeling need not be risked.

Of course there are some forbidden the cold dip by doctor's orders. But it to those who have not yet experienced its joys and who have no physical disability that these hints are given. The ideal time to "get the habit" is in summer time or in early September, before a chill is in the air. Then it will carry itself on into cooler weather imperceptibly. If it has been put off until later begin with the water warmed. Even a warm water plunge is good.

Use good sense about it. Jumping from a warm bed into a waiting tub of icy water, and the resultant glow, is a thing to be read about in tales where the hero is a big, muscular athelete. In actual life the hero does no such thing. If he has had good physical training he precedes the plunge by standing up and taking many good deep breaths, filling the lungs full to start circulation, holding the breath for a moment, then exhaling steadily. Then he goes through some stirring exercises, which may be simple enough to suit any constitution, taking deep breaths all the while, and by adding a half dozen for good measure between each set of movements.

Then when in a fine glow, he drops into the tub of cold water and splashes for a minute or two, springs out, dries himself with a rough towel, and goes through a series of rubbing exercises, in the course of which every part of his body gets a good, stimulating friction with his palms. Then to dress—and he goes forth feeling fit to conquer a man's share of the earth.

But the masculine part of the community has no morgage on that splendid sensation of vitality and energy. Any girl who goes at it with good sense can share in its joys, especially if she has a warm bathroom at her command. If freshly drawn cold water be a little too much for her at first, it can be tempered, or, if drawn over night, the chill will go off. Yet after a little she probably will come actually to crave the real "live" feeling of the brisker contact.

A noted East Indian authority on physical well being and the means for attaining it, recommends a slightly different routine, in that he tells one to leave the skin slightly moist (instead of drying thoroughly), to slip on the undergarments and to exercise so. This, he says—and his word is fully confirmed by many who have tried it—brings a quick glow and a feeling of exhilaration delightful to experience. But either program, followed faithfully, will make the day a different matter to the one who has usually found "beginning right" no easy thing to accomplish.

The Weanling Colt.

About this time of the year our bowels of compassion are stirred at the thoughts of the weanling colt. Up to this time on good farms he has not needed much sympathy. He has not been allowed to run with the dam, nor to follow the wagon to town, has been trained to do without his mother from morning till noon, and from noon till night, but has been allowed to console himself with the company of other colts or perhaps of an old horse. He has had good grass except during the drouthy period, and then he had some hay and oats to nibble at and thus while away the lonely hours and satisfy incipient hunger.

On other farms he has not had such a good time. He has been allowed to follow the mare to the field. We have seen him trailing along from one side of the corn field to the other—a poor, disgusted, discouraged youngster. The trouble for many of these colts is coming. They are owned by thoughtless farmers. They who have been allowed to fill themselves at the fountain of colt's comfort will be rudely weaned one of these days and shut up by themselves with no opportunity for exercise, and will break their young hearts grieving for the mother, just like a baby whose mother is a society woman or belongs to a bridge club.

If you cannot move them by an appeal to their conscience, we would like to appeal to the pocketbooks of these poorer farmers and plead that they take care of those colts. If the colt has been bred well and born well and properly cared for up to this time it is worth money, prospectively, at least.

Now what does the colt need? It needs feed, and the best feed for the weanling colt is good, bright oats and good clover hay. We do not know why it is, but oats puts what the Scotchman calls "sneddum," what we call "ginger," "vim," "endurance," into man or beast. If you do not have oats, give the colt good, sound corn and a little oil meal to make up what the corn lacks. Don't give it all it will eat, for both colt and boy thrive best when they have what they will eat up clean but could eat a little more

The colt needs exercise. Don't shut him up in the barn and feed him corn or even oats and hay. You are not building up something to be eaten, as in the case of the calf or pig. You are not trying to develop fat, but muscle; and if you are to develop muscle you must give exercise and that whether it is a pig or calf or colt, but especially the last. Don't be afraid that the colt will get cold if you let him out to exercise. Keep him where he can get exercise at will. He will keep himself warm with exercise and at the same time develop muscle; and that's what you are after.

We need hardly say that the colt should have pure air. He will get that in taking exercise. He must have sunlight; all young things must have it. The colt should be kept growing all winter. It is not necessary for him to be fat, and better not, but he should have a chance to race about and play, like all other young things, and more particularly because you want to develop muscle in this colt. Therefore he needs more exercise and more play than any other animal on the farm except that young animal which you call your son. Take care of that young colt, if not for mercy's sake, then for money's sake.

"Berlin N. H. Flim Flammed and Gummed."

The following good story was recently published in the Gorham N. H. Mountaineer and reprinted in the Berlin Reporter. We reproduce it as an object lesson. It's no discredit to Berlin enterprise if they were "took in". It refers to the shoe factory that was built some time ago and has been empty for some years looking for an inducive tenant and this is the true story:—

In a town not a thousand miles from Gorham not many years ago a concern was induced to start a manufacturing plant. The company was organized by outsiders and put up a certain amount of money as a guarantee of good faith, and then proceeded to sell stock to whoever was willing to buy. A considerable amount of this stock was disposed of in this town where the industry was to be located, and the company proceeded to fit up an unused building for the manufacture of its particular line of goods. Looms were installed, likewise dryers and other necessary machinery. Many people visited the factory while the work of fitting it was in progress and were induced to invest in the stock. At last the machinery was all installed and word was given out that the factory was ready to start, when financial difficulties were encountered and no further attempt was made to get the industry into operation. Several auctions were held eventually to dispose of the effects of the company for the benefit of the creditors. A representative of the concern that had supplied some of the machinery was sent on to buy the machines they had built when they should be offered for sale, if they could be bought at a reasonable price. This he did, and the looms were sold to another party for a fractional part of their apparent cost.

When the representative who had come on to buy the machinery of his company's manufacture was taking it down and preparing it for shipment, he noticed the looms and finding out whose property they were, conceives the idea of buying them and selling them to the company by whom they were built and make a dollar for himself. He telegraphed the company that built the looms and stated the case, telling how they were held by a man who had no use for them and could likely be bought for a small sum. Imagine his surprise when he received a reply from the builders which read something like this: "Don't want the looms at any price; they were not built to run."

The representative's curiosity was then aroused and he looked the machines over carefully and made some inquiries. He soon saw that the looms were very lightly made, and learned that the purchase price was only about $80 each when a high class loom would bring about $250.

Somebody must have been gummed all right.

Maine Club in Lynn.

An effort is being made in Lynn to organize a State of Maine club, the membership of which shall be limited to those who were born in Maine. Those who have lived in that state for a time and then left will not be taken in. There are about 3000 people in Lynn who are natives of Lynn, but some of them are undesirables and won't get into the new club. Besides several newspaper men, there are lawyers, doctors, ministers and such like; besides many business men. Hiram E. Miller, an attorney born in Winterport; Dr. H. E. Abbott, a native of Mechanic Falls; Henry W. Sawyer, advertising manager of the Lynn Evening Item and a native of Bucksport; H. W. Sampson, one of the big men of the Lynn Gas & Electric Company, are the promoters of the club.

CATARRH FOR TWELVE YEARS

Offensive, Nauseating, Weakening Disease.

Sufferer Feared It Would Cling to Him Through Life.

Cured by a Truly Wonderful Medicine.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—"I am very glad of this opportunity to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it is truly a wonderful medicine. It has entirely cured me of catarrh. I suffered from this disagreeable disease for more than a dozen years, and often felt that it would cling to me through life and hasten my death. I cannot tell how much I suffered, but any one who has catarrh knows how miserable it makes a person feel.

"I wasted a lot of money on what proved to be worthless remedies, and then happening to read an advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I concluded to try this medicine. I soon had confidence in it, because I could see that it was doing me good. I took six bottles, when I was entirely cured.

"I can and do recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all my friends, and especially for catarrh." James C. Shimel, 1127 W. Thompson st.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine that has given perfect satisfaction to the millions of intelligent and prudent men and women who are really the bone and sinew of the country, but who "could never afford to be sick" if always obliged to get physicians' prescriptions or to have medicines specially put up for them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is an agreeable, easily obtainable and comparatively inexpensive remedy for diseases and ailments of the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys, and low or run-down conditions of the system. It effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. There is no real substitute. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today in usual liquid form or in chocolated tablets known as Sarsatabs.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

In Memoriam.

WHEREAS, Our Heavenly Father in His love and mercy has thought best to take from our ranks a beloved Sister, a loyal and respected member of the G. M. Knight, W. R. C. While we grieve for her loss we must realize that our loss must be her gain, and thank the dear Lord who holds our destiny in His hands and who maketh no mistakes, for permitting us to hold our number entire so many years and months, as this is the first death we have had to record.

RESOLVED, That, we truly sympathize with the husband and friends of our departed Sister, and commend them to the loving care of Him who doeth all things well, and who has said in His word, I will not leave you comfortless, I will come to you.

RESOLVED, That, a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records and a copy be sent to the husband of our Sister and also to the Norway ADVERTISER.

A TRULY WONDERFUL INVENTION

SAVES YOUR STRENGTH, SAVES MONEY and best of all—SAVES WOMAN

The Marvel of the 20th Century is the

VICTORIA
Suction Carpet Sweeper

A new method, by which you can sweep your carpet by air. Don't fail to see it; if you do not examine it now, the time may come when you will wish you had.

The Only Carpet Sweeper on Earth, made on the suction principle and working by self-generated air draft, thus forcing the dirt out of the carpet and up into the pan without effort and without injury to the most delicate floor coverings.

Remember there is a difference between a Carpet Sweeper and a Carpet Rubber. By using the VICTORIA you will not injure your Carpet as it sweeps by suction. Four Black Fans in the cylinder create a vacuum that sucks the sand, dirt and moth out of the carpet and the soft bristles of the brush carry it into the dust pan. Can be adjusted for use on carpets, rugs, mattings or floors. Hence there is no sprouting or wearing of your carpets like there is when using the so-called broom action sweepers with their stiff brushes.

See it, learn what it is, examine it now. Price 3.50. The Demonstrator is paid to show it to you.

The fall term of school closed in this district last week Thursday after a long term of 12 weeks. The teacher, Nellie Gustin returned to her home in Gorham, Friday for a few week's vacation.

Virgil Twitchell and Gorham's Big Conflagration.

Walter Young recently handed us a dimunitive paper. The size of the sheet is 9 ¾ x 11 ½ inches, and when folded measures 5 ⅛ x 9 ¾ inches. It was issued by V. V. Twitchell of Gorham, N. H., Friday, May 2, 1870, and it was as large a paper as he then could print. The fire of April 28th had destroyed his plant.

On the last page he says this:

"Mountaineer ashes."

"No room for loafers in this column."

"Lost—the entrance to the Mountaineer Office. The key is safe."

"Wanted a Fire Department. Steam engine not necessary at this date."

"Published in the street, Gorham, N. H., by V. V. Twitchell."

It was 32 years ago last April that Gorham had its destructive fire. Fifty-one different people suffered loss of $62,865.00. The insurance was $27,700.00 and was distributed among fifteen different companies. The Pennsylvania Company was the largest loser, having $5200 to pay.

It will be remembered that assistance was called on the Norway Fire Department and the "boys" got their fire apparatus as far as South Paris and was loading it onto the train to go to Gorham when word was received that the Gorham fire was under control.

Portland sent a fire engine to Gorham and it did good service. Joseph Chandler, the engineer, pulled the train there in 1 hour and 56 minutes, the running time, ninety-two miles. Two stops were made. One on account of a "hot box" at West Paris and one at Gilead. This fire engine saved some 300,000 tons of coal for the Grand Trunk Railway, only prehaps 300 tons were burned.

Here are some of the characteristic "Twitchell Twitches."

"Sweet are the uses of insurance."

"Don't let the grass grow on the burnt district."

"3000 copies of this little paper."

"By actual account 106 people were turned out of doors last Monday."

"A larger roll of maps and a book, Matrimonial Infelicities' has been handed us for an owner."

"The remains of The Mountaineer can be seen at Wardwell stand during business hours."

"A light cloth faced and line storm coat, new, was stolen from the few things of the publisher of The Mountaineer. The poor fellow needs it. Bring it back, please."

"The bottom round of our ladder was burned in the fire in Portland in 1866 and we tumbled to the ground. Again we are down, but not discouraged."

"The mean cuss that kicked in the Desmond Bros. show case and filled his pockets with knives and such things, will have to remain in Purgatory for a long time before he can enter the Kingdom of Heaven."

"Those extending to us a helping hand: Rev. J. A. Seitz & Sons, Norway; I. W. Quimbly, Lancaster; W. H. Bishop, Island Pond and the Boston and Portland paper houses and printing machine men."

At the time of the fire Mr. Twitchell had a mordern printing office. He had a large newspaper press of which he was very proud, being the only one on the line of the Grand Trunk, and in this fire he lost heavily, saving only his subscription books, a small press and a little type. He shortly got together sufficient means from his overdue subscribers and friends, which enable him to resume the publication of The Mountaineer. This was done in a very short time and up till the time of his death, he run one of the brighest, best and cleanest local papers on the line of the railroad.

A scarlet silk cord with long tassels is tied about the bowl, the long ends hanging over the sides, and heightening the effect of the pretty red berries themselves.

The Grand Trunk has been asked by residents of Berlin, N. H., to use other than soft coal on its locomotives that work in the city. WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

After Winter.

A little bit of blowing,
A little bit of snow,
A little bit of growing,
And crocuses will show.
On every twig that's lonely
A new green leaf will spring,
On every patient tree top
A thrush will stop and sing.

Oxford Pomona Grange will hold its annual meeting at South Paris, Tuesday, Dec 5th. In the forenoon routine work with reports of committees and election of officers. In the afternoon there will be installation of officers interspersed with music and readings.

Doing Your Own Housework.

What do you think of the advantages of doing your own work over that of employing help?

This question has been propounded to me in various ways lately, principally by several letters I have had on the subject, says Christine Terhune Herrick, in the Chicago Inter Ocean. One woman writes:

"I find a servant a gteat nuisance, as well as an extra expense. I enjoy doing my own work, I feel so fresh and it certainly does agree with me. I send out my washing, although I do my own ironing, and much prefer my present plan to the time when I kept a maid."

Another writes: "I have found out that a maid is a bother and an expense. It is almost impossible to economize with one in the house. If you do, they think you are 'cheap.'"

I think there is much to be said for the woman who does her own work, so far as her freedom, her ability to economize and other details are concerned. I have friends who employ no hired help beyond a laundress or a woman who comes occasionally to do rough cleaning, and I must say they strike me as persons to be envied on a number of counts.

Said one woman to me: "If I order luncheon at 1 o'clock and stroll in quarter of an hour late on a few occasions, my cook gets to the point of expecting me to be late as a rule, and when I want a meal on time I can't get it. That is one of the penalties I get for not doing my own work."

I have considered this more than once and I think it bears the marks of reason. Undoubtedly it is a comfort not to have to give up a matinee or an afternoon tea in order to go home and get dinner, and it is also a relief to feel, when you return home tired, that you do not have to clear the table and wash up the dishes after you have finished your meal. But you have to compensate for this by promptness and rigidity in other things, whereas if there were no one to consult but yourself and your family you could take liberties with impunity.

The advantages of the latter condition are borne in upon me every time I visit one especial house where the women of the family do all the work. They live prettily and simply, with always plenty of good food, though without a great number of dishes. Dinner may consist of meat and a couple of vegetables, and if a salad follows this there will be no dessert. But the food is always well cooked and daintily served and the family can allow themselves delicacies they might not feel justified in having if they had to provide these for a kitchen force as well. If they choose to sit and chat for an hour before clearing the table, if they prefer to put the dishes aside to be washed the next morning when they are not in their best clothes, no one is hurt or hindered by it but themselves. They are not worried lest they should be making the kitchen work late for the cook, or by the thought that they are getting her into careless habits. When they exercise hospitality they give their own effort, their own service and feel they can do as they please.

Another merit in keeping no maid is that you can have your house in just the order which suits your personality.

HOW TO CURE CRAMPS.

Effective Treatment For Ailment That Often Causes Drowning.

Cramp! Who hasn't had a pleasant swim in glorious weather spoiled at one time or another by this most pernicious of sudden seizures? But how cheering to know that it is not a proof of one's incompetence and that it attacks both good and indifferent swimmers alike.

Never bathe soon after a meal, as indigestion in many cases causes "cramp." And do not exhaust yourself in a vain endeavor to outrival some opponent, as the overexertion of muscles that have been little used will prove just as dangerous.

This horrible bunching of the muscles is generally felt in the calf of the leg, just below the knee. So curious is the sensation of the "knotted" cords that the sufferer seems to lose all reason for the time being and is overpowered with mingled pain and terror.

To effect a remedy turn over on the back at once, kick out the afflicted leg in the air, disregarding the pain if possible. Rub the spot smartly with one hand, while employing the other in paddling to keep afloat. To finish off the cure draw the toes forcibly upward toward the knee. These instructions are for the passably good swimmer. As to the beginner—well, he will probably be near the shore and can be hauled out.

How to Clean Shelled Nuts.

To free shelled nuts from germs put them in a colander and pour boiling water over them very quickly and at once immerse in very cold water, drain and wipe dry in folded napkin. This does not affect the oils and crispness of the nut meats if it is done quickly. Nuts that are bought are often shelled for our markets by the grimy hands of the little children of the slums at the price of 7 cents a pound.

How to Buy Lemons.

If you want lemonade always buy small, soft, thin skinned lemons, directs Suburban Life. If you want to use them for flavoring purposes get large, hard, heavy skinned ones. The first, rolled until soft, are profitable for juice, the latter for grating purposes.

How to Whiten Tea Towels.

Save all the lemon hulls, drop them into the vessel in which you boil your tea towels, and it will whiten them wonderfully, and there will be a clean freshness about them that is very desirable.

Counterfeit Bills.

Most counterfeits fall down on the portraits, because there never were two artists that could get the same expression on the face of a subject nor an engraver who could make an exact duplicate of his own work.

Mrs. P. N. Andrews, who recently sold her house on Paris Hill, has given to the High school her valuable minerals This gift, combined with the school's former possessions in this direction, equip that institution with the finest collection of minerals to be found in any school of its size.

Outlook Bright.

Although Hebron has not turned out a championship team this year, they have made a very creditable showing. Starting the season with but four of the men who played the year before, it was necessary to pick seven new men out of a squad of 40.

Coach Bearce went to his task, however, and soon had the vacant places filled in a way that showed Hebron must be reckoned with as a contender for the championship among the prep. schools of the State.

The first game was with Colby, and in this, after only a week's practice, the academicians held the heavy college team to a score of 19 to 0. Rich played quarterback in this game and Corbett was at right end, while Blake held down the center position. Carll was in at fullback.

Two weeks after this, the Deering high school team was played here. There were a number of shifts in the line-up. Richmond replaced Blake at center, Carll was shifted to guard and Fuller took his place at half-back. Donegan took up the work of quarterback. Hebron won by the score of 28 to 0.

The next game of the year was with Bowdoin second and this was won by Hebron, 19 to 0. Fitzgerald, a former Morse high player, was shifted to right halfback in place of Nedeau. The next game was played with the strong Westbrook Seminary team at Portland and here Hebron suffered their first defeat for they were beaten by the score of 6 to 2. Bartlett was shifted to left halfback in this game.

Bridgton Academy was the next team on when the lads went to Hebron and fell before Coach Beasre's men by the score of 6 to 0. Joy played at right guard in this game. On the Saturday of this same week, Hebron played Coburn at Waterville and were beaten by the institute lads by the score of 6 to 0. Kent's Hill was played Nov. 6 and was beaten 11 to 6. The final game of the year was played at Hanover when Hebron stacked up against the heavy Dartmouth freshmen. Although entirely outclassed, the Hebron boys put up a hard game, but were defeated 21 to 0.

Nothing could be brighter than the prospects for the coming year at Hebron. From this year's team, Brown, Hutton, Allen, Richmond, Joy and Donegan will be back in the game, while Nedeau and Blake will be on and for substitutes. Campbell who has been playing a strong game at half-back for the second team should make good next year. The captain for 1912 will be elected within a week, it is thought.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Rayo Lamp

The Lamp That Saves The Eyes

Children naturally never think of possible strain on their eyesight when poring over a fascinating book.

It is up to you to see they do not ruin their young eyes these long evenings by reading under a poor light.

The Rayo Lamp is an insurance against eye troubles, alike for young and old.

The Rayo is a low-priced lamp, but it is constructed on the soundest scientific principles, and there is not a better lamp made at any price.

It is easy on the eye because its light is so soft and white and widely diffused. And a Rayo Lamp never flickers.

Easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Solid brass throughout, with handsome nickel finish; also in many other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of the

There are many Incidental Benefits in having a Checking Account in

THIS STRONG NATIONAL BANK

It enables you to keep track of your money matters in a systematic way. The entries in your bank book show how much money you have received, and the stubs of your check book and also the cancelled checks returned by the Bank show how much you have paid out and where the money went. In this way this Bank virtually keeps your books for you, and, we may add, few individuals ever succeed in keeping accurate account of their finances in any other way.

The cancelled checks, returned by the Bank each month, are legal receipts for your payments. If you pay in cash you will often fail to get receipts but paying by check automatically gives you an indisputable receipt for every payment and in a form very easy to file for future reference. You also avoid asking for a receipt, which is sometimes, though wrongfully, looked upon as evidence of personal suspicion.

In view of all these advantages can you ignore the need of a bank account for yourself?

Facts about Ventilation.

Widely Accepted Theories Based on Gross Error—Some Good Systems Rendered Injurious by Ignorant Application.

It is now time to stable the stock. The objects of stabling are to provide shelter from storm, to keep animals from extreme cold and to have the animals where they can be free and cared for with the greatest convenience. Were it not for the fact that living creatures have blood vessels and nerves, and that they require food, water, air and sunlight, they could be nailed up in boxes, buried in pits or hung in the tool shed; but living creatures demand constant supplies of food, water and oxygen. Not only must these substances be supplied, but they must be given in such form that the animals can assimilate them, and they must be provided according to the demand of natural laws rather than at the mere convenience of man.

Fully 50 per cent. of the literature on ventilation is of no practical value. Much is written that is not true, and consequently not practical. Old as it is, few subjects are as poorly understood. Various notions are published, many of them founded upon wrong theories, and as many more are absolutely impractible As a result our animals suffer all the inconveniences of some complicated systems, and get no more air and no better air than they did before with no system of ventilation at all.

Only a few weeks ago I visited the stable of a man well known in the agricultural world. This man had an expensive stable, and in it he had some really good Jersey cows, and he had hired help enough around him to run a whole train of parlor cars. The stable was damp, the floor was wet, the air was cold and the wind was blowing down the alley upon the heads of the poor shivering animals. The barn was supplied with the well known King system, but, as the attendant explained to me, it was cut of order then.

A glance around convinced me that neither attendants nor owners understood the philosophy of the King system. The poor cows were in misery, the barn was uncomfortable even to the help, and while the cows would have been more comfortable out in the lot, the men were anxious to get to the house where it was dry and warm. This is only one case. Time and time again have I seen the King system misused by some owner who did not comprehend its principals or who was too shiftless to keep even a hog trough in good repair; and yet the King system is about as near perfection as any system that has yet been devised.

A great many false notions have been taught about ventilation. One is that cold air is purer than warm air. It is not at all necessary for warm air to be impure. The fact that air is cold has no bearing upon its purity. How often have I heard it taught in schools and lecture halls that bedrooms should be cold in order that the air in them might be pure.

Another notion is that cold toughens and warmth weakens. I care not whether you are thinking of your children or of your cattle, if you think that freezing hardens the constitution you are mistaken. Extreme heat is not favorable to health, but comfort is always favorable to health and perfect development. I know of many cases where parents have chilled their children "to toughen them," and I know of several marble tablets that commemorate such efforts to make children tough by keeping them in cold rooms and providing them less clothing than is worn by the strong and the robust.

No, gentlemen, it doesn't weaken your animals to keep them in a stable that is comfortably warm. It does weaken any animal or any fowl to be kept in a place that is damp and chilly. Even the goose and the duck require a dry warm place to which they can retire. Cold air is not always pure air. A certain amount of warmth is necessary to health and comfort.

Another common error is that fresh air should be let in from above rather than from below. This is positively wrong. The practice of lowering the sash from the top and letting great chunks of cold air upon the heads of our children in our schoolhouses is both wrong and cruel, and the teacher who does this does not know the first principles of ventilation or the rudiments of that branch which in time will be known as "the study of animal life."

What awful headaches, neuralgias, pains in eyes, nose, ears, neck and jaws are produced by cold air dropping upon the head! The old saying about keeping "the head cool" has been overworked. It is time to know that the head should be kept warm and out of drafts. Cold air must not be let into a room from the top. Many an animal has failed to thrive simply because of pain in the head or jaw, the primary cause of which may have been chill from overhead, or if caused otherwise in the first place, has been made much worse by drafts of cold air upon the head and neck.

We seem to forget that while we enjoy being out in a fine breeze, with plenty of chance to swing our arms, move around and keep the blood in circulation, we do not enjoy being tied helpless and motionless before an open window. Thousands of cattle and horses would have been far more comfortable last winter could they have been turned loose in the yard or the woods and left to select their own places.

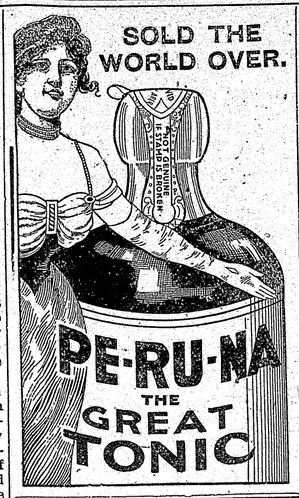

Now, have I made it plain? If not, let me repeat: A cold room is not necessarily a healthy room. Cold air is not always pure air. Warm air need not be impure. Drafts upon any part of the body are dangerous, and always lead to painful nervous affections. Animals suffer from neuralgia as much as do humans. Cold air should never be let into a room from the top. Rooms should never be ventilated by lowering windows. Whenever the air makes a perceptible current in entering a room the ventilation is imperfect. Coming in so rapidly it is not pure air, but is laden with germs and germ covered dust.

Air must be made to enter a room slowly. Air can and should be warmed before it reaches the body of the animal that is to use it. The temperature of the room need not be excessively high, but it should be warm enough for comfort, and currents of unwarmed air should be avoided. Expose for three hours a human being, to a direct draft of air 10 degrees colder than the temperature of the room in which he sits and death is very likely to follow as the result of the exposure. Poultry raisers can tell you that even a small current of cold air upon the head of a fowl that is at rest will result in death.

In conclusion, then, avoid drafts and manage that the fresh air enter the room very gradually, and that it is warmed somewhat before being placed around the animal that is to consume it.

If I have made it plain that it is not necessary to freeze every creature in a room in order to ventilate that room, I have done one of the things I set out to do when I began this article. As some people ventilate a room the health and comfort of the inmates are overlooked. Their idea of ventilation in its highest degree makes one think of a graveyard upon a winter's night.

Pure air, warm air, the gradual introduction of fresh air, the avoidance of drafts and the direction and level from which and upon which fresh air enters the room are all important.—[Waldo Co. Herald.

Bovine Tuberculosis.

"Tuberculosis," as a New Hampshire bulletin states, "is a wide-spread disease affecting animals and also man. Human beings and cattle are its chief victims, but there is no kind of animal that will not take it. Hogs and chickens are quite often affected; horses, sheep and goats being affected but seldom, however.

"The disease is contagious. It spreads from cow to cow in a herd until most of them are affected. It is slow in developing and may not become noticeable for months or even years. The tuberculin test, which can do no harm to the healthy cow, reveals the germ in a few hours, and always proves successful when in the hands of an experienced veterinarian."

"The disease is common among hogs," the bulletin goes on. "The public abbattoirs report that a serious percentage of hogs inspected is found to be tuberculosis. The losses among cattle and hogs is enormous, amounting to millions of dollars annually."

Turning to the infection of human beings with the tuberculosis germ through cattle, the bulletin says: "Milk is the staple food of infants and young children and is usually taken in the raw state. If this milk is taken from a tuberculosis cow it may contain millions of living tubercle germs. Young children fed on such milk often contract the disease, and it is a frequent cause of death among them.

"Meat from tuberculous cattle is not so likely to convey the infection for several reasons. It does not so frequently contain the germs, cooking destroys those that may be present, and lastly, meat is not consumed by very young children."

As to the spread of the disease, the bulletin says: "Sooner or later the tuberculous cow begins to give off the germs of the disease. The germs escape by the mouth and nose, the bowels, in the milk, and in discharges from the genital organs. When the germs are being given off in any of these ways, the disease is known as open tuberculosis.

"Dark, dirty, crowded stables are favorable to tuberculosis. Under these conditions the disease spreads rapidly and is only kept out with difficulty.

"Clean, airy, well-lighted stables, on the other hand, are unfavorable to the development of the disease. If brought into such a stable it does not spread so rapidly and is not so difficult to get rid of as in the first case.

"A well built, sanitary stable need not be made of expensive material or of elaborate design, but should have plenty of light, air and drainage.

"Light is very important. Direct sunlight is a great destroyer of germ life. Tubercle bacilli soon die if exposed to sunlight. It is a disinfection, always ready to work without cost."

Good Drinking Water Obtained by Melting Natural Ice.

During the next few months the quality of the public water supply in many towns and cities will be questioned, as the sources are lowered by droughts or flooded by an excess rainfall. While it is true that public supplies are seldom injuriously affected by the foreign vegetable matter when the lakes or reservoirs are low, or by the turpidity following torrential rains, nevertheless the public is loath to drink water so changed from its normal clear state. Frequently health authorities in these emergencies recommend boiling the water.

It is news to many that in the water obtained by melting natural ice there exists a perfectly satisfactory source of drinking water always available in every community. Such ice is from 90 to 99.5 per cent. purer than the water on which it forms. As John C. Sparks, B. Sc., city water expert for New York city, says: "In the neighborhood of 50 per cent. of the mineral matter in solution is eliminated, making the water of which the ice is made more pure, both from the removal of matter in suspension and a portion of the matter in solution." Bacteria in the water are eliminated from the ice, the latter containing 90 per cent. less bacteria than the water and as all natural ice is stored anywhere from 4 to 12 or more weeks before being used, there is a futher reduction of over 90 per cent. of any bacteria in the ice during this storage period, so that, as Dr. E. H. Porter, state commissioner of health of New York state, reports, it is practically sterile when delivered for consumption. This purification makes the water from melted natural ice a very desirable source of drinking water supply.

Dr. William T. Sedgwick of Boston, America's leading sanitarian, is accustomed to advise his classes of engineers at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology when they go out into the world and get to places, as he puts it: "Where the water supply, which is always suspicious, is as suspicious as the water or more so, then you can get a safe drink by melting down clear natural ice; because in 99 cases out of a hundred clear ice when melted gives a pure water."

Other authorities might be quoted, but these are sufficient to show that there lies at the door of every community a cheap, always available and perfectly safe source of drinking water supply, in the natural ice which local ice dealers have on hand. Such melting ice is cheaper than the water bought by the gallon for family use and the ice being in a solid form does not absorb impurities in handling. Eight and a half pounds of ice melted will give a gallon of water at a cost of less than five cents a gallon. As Prof. Sparks says: "A more extensive use of natural ice as a drinking water should aid in the reduction of typhoid fever and make a useful and easily attainable supply of safe drinking water within the reach of everyone."

Bridgton Academy.

The preliminary prize speaking began Monday morning. The speakers were Samuel Pitts, Harrison; Curtis Caswell, North Bridgton; Harriet Smith, Waterford; Florence Emery, Lovell; Laurence Thomes, North Bridgton; Bridgton; Ethel Jillson, Bolster's Mills; Lincoln Whitehouse, North Bridgton. The next division spoke on Friday morning.

Ebenezer Bean of Illinois, principal at Bridgton Academy from 1854 to 1860, has been a visitor.

Superintendent Russell of Bridgton was a visitor at the Academy, one day last week.

The North Bridgton Library association gave a very pleasing entertainment in the Congregational chapel. The little ones of the town furnished the greater part of the program which consisted of recitations and songs. Ice cream, cake, and home-made candy were on sale during the evening. The proceeds are to go toward the fund for the erection of a library building.

Bronchitis Conquered.

Seventy Years Old and Praises Wonderful Hyomei.

"I had a severe attack of La Grippe. It left me with bronchitis and catarrh of my throat. I became quite deaf in one ear so I could not hear a watch tick. I commenced using your HYOMEI and inhaler and soon got relief, and believe that it saved my life. I have recommended it to many., I am over seventy years old. I have told several prominent doctors what it did for me." Wm. H. Mowder, Washington, N. J., R. F. D. March 16, 1911.

For catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, coughs, colds and catarrhal deafness HYOMEI is guaranteed by Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes Drug Store. Complete outfit including inhaler and bottle HYOMEI $1.00. Separate bottles HYOMEI if afterwards needed 50 cents. 45&47

Satisfaction in a Good Teacher's Work

The satisfaction there must be in the work of a good teacher has often been remarked upon. Sometimes, however, the sight of one's former pupils in after life causes more amusement than gratification. A lady who was a native of Rochester had remarkable success as a Sunday school teacher in the city where she later made her home. She had helped many a young man and her work was a feature of the church.

Her husband, however, who was a great joker, never got tired of telling about one of these ex-pupils of his wife's Sunday school class, who met him on the street one day. The ex-pupil was in that happy condition of intoxication where the world all looks bright and every acquaintance the best and nicest person ever. He came up to his former teacher's husband, grasped him by the hand and told him over and over again with many a hiccough, how delighted he was to see him.

Then he went on to say: "And your wife, Mr. Jones,—she's a grand woman—hic—she's one of the best woman—hic—God ever made. She's so kind—hic—and good—hic—and she's helped so many poor fellers—hic. You don't know how noble—hic—your wife is, Mr. Mr. Jones, I tell you—hic. Sir," (and here he staggered back, straightened himself up by a mighty effort and slapped his chest.) "Sir, your wife—hic—has made me—hic—what I am."
